Rhodes Seeks Change In Cabinet Term

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Republican Gov. James A. Rhodes and his immediate predecessor, Democratic Gov. Michael V. DiSalle, have at least one thing in common. They believe that all members of a governor's cabinet should serve at the pleasure of the governor.

DiSalle never quite managed to get the legislature to change things around. But a measure to do the deed, which has Rhodes' backing, is set for a hearing Tuesday night before the House Elections and Federal Relations Committee.

Such departmental directors as those of health, mental hygiene and correction, natural resources, personnel and public works now serve definite terms set by law, anywhere from one to six years. The proposed change would permit a governor to choose his own cabinet members for terms matching his own.

Still awaiting committee assignments are administration bills in the House to:

Create a state board of regent to coordinate higher education planning.

Cut the State Board of Liquor Control from 4 to three to avoid deadlocked decisions.

The Senate Taxation Committee will give a second hearing Wednesday night to a bill providing for income tax reciprocity between cities.

Scheduled for hearing Thursday morning are two Senate bills to permit the hunting of mourning doves and open seasons on quail.

On tap for introduction tonight is a bill to increase the tax rate for unemployment compensation along with an increase in the rate base and the restoration of some restrictions in qualification for jobless benefits. It will be offered by Rep. William W. Milligan, R-Shelby.

The legislature, which already had received 259 proposed new laws and probably will get another 200 or so this week, will be starting its fifth work week tonight.

Behind the scenes this week, a subcommittee of the House Judi-

Congress Gets Education Bill

Program Expected To Draw GOP Fire

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy's education bill starts on its obstacle-strewn course through Congress today.

Anthony J. Celebrezze, secretary of health, education and welfare, and U.S. Education Commissioner Francis Keppel launch the controversial, 24-point program with testimony before the House Education and Labor Committee.

They face stiff questioning, particularly from committee Republicans who have already served notice they want to scrap most of Kennedy's sweeping program and concentrate on one or two items.

The administration has wrapped into one bill a variety of programs that didn't get anywhere on their own in the last Congress. They include aid for elementary and secondary schools, vocational training, and other marine accessories, the owner Charles E. Eiler reports.

On Sunday at 11:58 a.m., local firemen were called to 1151 E.

Robbers Are Prime Suspects

Youngstown Blaze Probed by Firemen

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — Firemen and arson investigators continued their efforts today to determine the cause of a million-dollar fire that destroyed the plush Youngstown Club.

Police said the fire early Sunday followed a robbery at the club, which occupied the two top floors of the 13-story Union National Bank Building on Central Square. They theorized the blaze was started—accidentally or intentionally—by the robbers. The club was unoccupied at the time.

Manager Fred Shaner estimated the club's loss at $500,000. Robert

Findlay, city building inspector, said damage to the building would run about $500,000.

The flames were confined to the two top floors of the building, but water and smoke caused considerable damage to the other floors.

John Hrvnak, 50, the night watchman, said he was alone in the building when a gunman forced him to the 13th floor, where the club office was located.

Hrvnak said he was bound and blindedfolded, after which he heard the cash register being rifled and a nearby room being ransacked. It was not determined how much money, if any, was taken. No at tempt was made to get into a safe which contained $1,500, police said.

Police said Hrvnak reported seeing only one man but told of hearing considerable noise during the robbery. This led them to be lieve that the gunman might have had as many as two accomplishes, whom he apparently let into the building after he had settled up the watchman, they said.

The watchman said he smelled smoke shortly after the robbery.

He said he freed himself of his bonds and called the fire department.

Firemen fought the general alarm blaze for two hours in near-zero weather before bringing it under control. Fire Capt. James

Prosser, 49, was admitted to

South Side Hospital with a possible abdominal injury suffered extensive damage to the building housed Charlie's Boats and Motor Co., 794 Benton Road, was caused by a fire shortly before

9 p.m. Saturday.

Loss to the contents of the building is reported as "considerable," and a complete inventory was to be made today.

Salem city firemen, called to the Perry Township address, found upon their arrival that the cement block and frame building was already engulfed in flames.

The firemen remained on the escen fighting the fire for about an hour.

The 24-by-60 foot L-shaped building contained fishing equipment, life jackets, motor boats and parts, and other marine accessories, the owner Charles E.

Eiler reports.

On Sunday at 11:58 a.m., local firemen were called to 1151 E.

Mother, 4 Children Die As Home Burns

MASSILLON, Ohio (AP)—A mother and her four children were burned to death in a blaze which destroyed their home early today. The father was hospitalized with burns.

The mother was identified as Jane Burhenn, 33. The children, who were not identified immediately, ranged in age from 6 months to 13 years.

The father, Edward, suffered burns and shock in trying to rescue the family, officials said.

According to officials, the mother woke up about midnight and smelled smoke. She and the father went outside to see where it was coming from.

They spotted a blaze in the basement, and Burhenn went to a nearby barn to get a ladder while Mrs. Burhenn went back into the house.

When the father returned, he tried to get in the house but was driven back by the flames.

The house was demolished, officials said. They blamed the fire on an overheated coal furnace.

SEARCH FOR ESCAPEE
LONDON, Ohio (AP)—Authorities were continuing the search for a 41-year-old Hamilton County man who escaped Saturday from the London Correctional Institution.

Joseph Scholtz, serving a 1-1/2 year sentence for burglary and larceny, walked away from the horse barn where he was working as a trustee.

Hinges Often Culprits When Door Fails To Close Properly

When a door fails to close properly, don't rush to plane, file or sand off some of the wood at the point where the binding occurs.

This removal of wood sometimes is the only solution to the problem. But, more often than not, the door can be made to operate properly by a little attention to the most probable culprit—the hinges. When either or both of the hinges fails to remain solidly in place, the door develops a sag and will stick at some point in the frame.

IT IS NOT ALWAYS easy to detect a loose hinge by sight alone. Generally, you will have to open and close the door several times at varying degrees of speed to see whether there is even the tiniest movement of the hinge. To be doubly sure, place a screwdriver in the slot of each hinge screw and turn it in a clockwise direction. If the screw turns the least bit, it means that it has loosened and is not holding the hinge as securely as possible.

A temporary repair sometimes can be made by using a slightly larger screw. But the proper way is to remove the screw and fill the opening with wood putty, plastic wood or a small wooden plug. The old screw then can be replaced, although a new one should be used if any rusting or damage has occurred.

SUPPOSE ALL TESTS prove and none of the hinges out of line? You will then have to use what is called a shim, which in this case is merely a piece of cardboard placed beneath one of the hinge leaves on the door jamb. If the door has been sticking near the top, then the shim should be placed under a top hinge leaf; if at the bottom, then under a bottom hinge leaf. The hinge screws should go through the cardboard and into the wood. You can vary the shim any way you want to get the results you want, using a thin one or a thick one or two pieces of cardboard or even a wooden shim.

ONLY WHEN ALL ELSE fails should any wood be removed from the door. A too-hasty removal of wood may bring regret at a later time, since different weather conditions may cause the wood at that point to shrink leaving an unsightly gap. In any case, wherever wood is removed, be sure to replace the paint or other original finish to prevent moisture from making an entrance.

Lacquer Fine Finish But Requires Careful Application

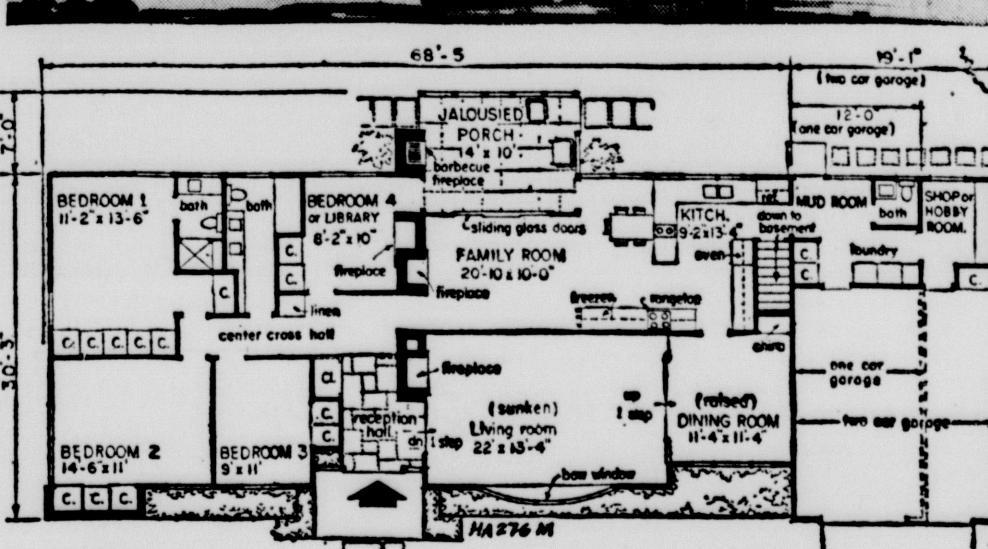

Durable, heat-resistant and waterproof lacquer is one of the finest of finishes. But it also is one that requires careful, knowledgeable application to obtain satisfactory results.

A combined advantage and disadvantage of lacquer is that it dries quickly, almost instantly. Because of this, it picks up less dust from the air and permits several applications in a single day. At the same time, the fast-drying quality can mean trouble in attempting to get a smooth coat.

THUS, IF YOU DISCOVER that one part of the stock being worked on doesn't look just right, do not attempt to patch it. If you do, the entire area immediately will take on a muddy appearance. Instead, rely on the second coat to fill in the area properly, since each coat of lacquer sinks into the previous one.

BEFORE LACQUERING anything for the first time, it is wise to practice on several pieces of scrap wood until you get the hang of it. Lacquer should be thinned about 50-50 with lacquer thinner for most applications, varying the percentages as you desire once you have learned the technique. Buy brushing or spraying lacquer depending on the equipment being used.

The brush is dipped into lacquer and applied generously in broad, sweeping strokes. Overlap the previous strokes slightly. You must work quickly and be certain that you have enough

LUXURY RANCH — A single large chimney block in this large ranch provides for three fireplaces plus outdoor barbecue. Handy mudroom-laundry, half bath and large closets catch debris at garage and rear entrances. Additional space behind the two-car garage makes a good shop, hobby room, or storage space for outdoor equipment. The kitchen conveniently serves the dining room, family room, dining area and jalousie porch. Connecting receiving hall and center cross hall join the three main zones of the house. Bedrooms are in a quiet zone, separated by central halls and chimney block. The 2,013 square-foot home was designed by Rudolph A. Matern, 9004 161st St., Jamaica 32, N.Y., and is Plan HA276M.

Few Basic Tools Sufficient For Most Household Tasks

What tools does the average homeowner need? Should he buy a full assortment right from the beginning or should he start out with nothing at all?

While both positions are extreme, the latter is closer to being more practical. No one should move into a home completely without tools. But if you are about to do so, you will discover that you need fewer than you think and perhaps not the items you thought of getting.

A hammer, a few screw drivers, a pair of pliers and an adjustable wrench will take care of most of your needs—dismantling and putting furniture together (such as beds), assembling toys, changing faucet washers, tightening hinges, replacing doorknobs and a host of other small maintenance jobs.

More Tools

Plan to acquire other tools as they are needed. (Word to the wise: A cheap tool wears out quickly, does the job poorly and costs additional money when you replace it.)

You will find that you will need additional wrenches, a hand drill for starting holes, special pliers, sandpaper and emery cloth, files, a rule and an oil can.

A pipe wrench will start you usable plumbing and heating contractor, who can check an existing system or offer his advice on the zoning of a heating system for a new house.

QUESTION: We soon will be refinishing the living room floor in our house. The floor is made of hardwood and seems to be in pretty good condition except for the finish, which has gotten very dark and dirty and is generally unsightly. We'd like to try a penetrating sealer this time. What is your advice?

ANSWER: Penetrating sealers, as the name implies, sink into the wood and thus are more than surface coverings, as in the case with other types of floor finishes. After the sealer has been allowed to penetrate for 15 minutes or so (the instructions on the container will give you the correct time for the particular brand you are using), it is necessary to go over the floor a second time with a dry mop to remove any excess. When this had dried for a certain period of time (again: see the directions), the floor should be buffed lightly with fine steel wool.

Second and sometimes third coats are necessary for extra good results, repeating the drying and buffing processes each time. Some sealers require waxing; some do not.

One very important point: when you talk about refinishing the floor, it is assumed that you mean removing the old finish completely, either with a chemical remover or with a sanding machine. If this isn't done, the entire penetrating action of the sealer will be lost.

QUESTION: Please give me some information about words like concrete, cement, mortar and grout. I expect to be doing some patching in the future and have been reading up on the subject, but I am confused about the ways these terms are used.

ANSWER: There is much confusion about these words because even some persons in the construction industry use them interchangeably.

Let's start with cement, because this is the ingredient used in all of the mixtures. Cement usually is portland cement, a kind of cement, not a brand of it. It now comes in different sizes, but the usual size is 94 pounds to a bag, because 94 pounds is the amount that equals one cubic foot.

Concrete is cement mixed with gravel or a similar aggregate, sand and water. Mortar is cement mixed with lime, sand and water. Grout is cement mixed with sand and water.

Beaver Creek Park Project

The Ohio Division of Parks' approval of specifications for restoring historic Gaston's Mill in the Beaver Creek State Park area has encouraged Columbianians who are interested in further expansion of the natural beauty spot in the southeastern part of the county.

Yet, restoration of the 126-year-old grist mill at Echo Dell would be only the beginning of a vast project that needs many public supporters if it is going to materialize at all. Beaver Creek State Park, when established in 1945, was to have included 8,000 acres but to date encompasses only 1,700 acres. Already private properties and coal strip mines are threatening to ruin a district where nature's beauty abounds in many ways.

This encroachment may be checked if the Rules of the Income Tax Game

Enthusiasm for income tax changes fluctuates from day to day, depending on what angle the prospect is being viewed from.

The angle today will not be reassuring. It will bring into view President Kennedy's version of income tax changes, which includes not only a reduction of rates—gradual for corporations, radical for individuals—but also a shift in some rules of the income tax game.

This major financial sport has developed out of tax laws and rulings. Some think it is played most expertly by millionaire Texans and their tax layers and consultants. But in all probability the expertise of the American people has been developed equally wherever tax advisers ply their indispensable trade. Their skill must not be underestimated.

An entire system of handling money has developed out of tax laws. Practices that once would have been considered fantastic now are thought of as routine because they become common under tax laws. The moving picture industry all but fled to the Old World—because of taxes. Taxes play a part in such formerly private considerations as marriage and divorce. They determine

Ohio Legislature sees fit to appropriate needed funds but public opinion probably will be needed to convince the elected officials at Columbus that the project has merit, the Columbian County Historical Society and the County Forest and Parks Council points out.

A letter to State Rep. Clarence L. Wetzel might help and it wouldn't be out of order to drop a note to Congressman Wayne L. Hays since the National Park Service indicated several months ago that Beaver Creek site had possibilities as a national park.

As for strip-mining and other wanton desecration of our land, the apathetic public seems to take it all for granted. You don't have to drive very far from Salem to view towering spoil banks and water-filled ravines, evidence of the coal scavengers' destructive exploits.

By DAVID LAWRENCE

There's no use getting mad at Gen. de Gaulle just because he is a realist in a world of anxiety or just because he doesn't see things the way Washington or London sees them.

The French president has lately been the subject of some rather severe criticism as a stubborn, self-centered individual who would rather mess up NATO and the whole defense plan of the West than give up his concept of a united Europe based on continental supremacy without Britain.

Naturally this irritates many people and causes intimations to be given in White House circles that maybe Gen. de Gaulle is living in the 19th century.

Yet Gen. de Gaulle has merely stood firm on the principle that a leader's first obligation is to take care of his own countrymen. He hasn't swallowed the propaganda of the supranationalists who think the many nationalities in Europe can be best governed by a single council of state.

It was on Jan. 14 that Gen. de Gaulle gave comprehensive answers to questions asked at a press conference in Paris. He has not modified his position since. While his views were not accepted with enthusiasm in Washington or in London, they were by no means opposed fundamentally to allied solidarity or to the fence against the Communist menace.

Another Round Coming Up

Our Tarnished Image

By RAYMOND MOLEY

Somehow in recent months we have begun to settle for something less than untarnished honor.

There is jubilation on the East River and the Potomac over "success" in the Congo where U.N. mercenaries—Gurkhas, Swedes, and Irish—with U.S. weapons in their hands and American silver in their pockets smashed Katanga forces and Tshombe, the most firmly pro-Western leader in Africa.

The history of American military efforts is studded with words that ring: the Americans—Lexington and Yorktown; Lake Erie, Manila Bay, St. Mihiel and the Argonne, Guadalcanal, Midway, Leyte Gulf and Iwo Jima; St. Lo, Bastogne, Ploesti, and Remagen; the Mountains of Greece, Berlin, the Formosa Straights, the Pusan Perimeter and Inchon.

Bullfight Seen on TV In Color

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—For a short time on Saturday afternoon a program called "Sports International" showed a Spanish bullfight in glorious living color on my television set.

NBC's Bud Palmer explained in a nice, calm voice that, whether you like it or not, bullfighting is a national spectacle—not a sport of Spain.

Almost immediately the experts teased the poor creature so that he charged and toppled an old horse in the ring. Then some graceful fellows in tight pants and pigtail proceeded to stick darts in the bull, all vividly shown in blood red by the television cameras. That is when this reporter turned the dial away from the NBC station and Bud Palmer.

I will defend to the death NBC's right to show a program about a bullfight—cruelty, blood and all. But that's one of the nice things about television—if you don't like what you are watching, you can turn it off.

CBS' Judy Garland special, to be shown March 19, was taped in New York last week—by shooting about an hour's worth of tape each night for five nights. The total product will then be edited down to about 50 minutes playing time.

Recommended tonight: "Monday Night at the Movies," premiering, NBC, 7:30-9:30 E.S.T. "The Enemy Below," with Robert Mitchum in a drama about World War II Navy adventures; Telephone Hour, NBC, 9:30-10—with singers Joan Sutherland and Pat Boone.

Sherman Minton bridge across Ohio River linking Louisville, Ky., and New Albany, Ind.

Old covered bridge outlives its usefulness on Elkhorn Creek at Switzer, Ky.

Bridges, like mortals, live out their spans of usefulness and make way for the younger and stronger. The bridges above are a case in point. At top is the Sherman Minton double-decker carrying traffic across the Ohio River between Louisville, Ky., and New Albany, Ind. It is the newest of 12,000 bridges Kentucky boasts, but it will never supplant, in the hearts of many, the charm of the state's old covered bridges. Eighteen of these still stand, like the one at Switzer, Ky., lower photo, as a reminder of a more leisurely way of life.

All buildings should be given numbers for addresses.

All street signs should be erected and a plat filed at the county courthouse.

The fire prevention code should be adopted as recommended by the Ohio Inspection Bureau.

Serious thought should be given to the long-range program of purchasing a new fire truck to be delivered in 1968, at which time the present trucks will be more than 20 years old and will be no longer recognized by the Ohio Inspection Bureau.

Some thought has been given to having a levy submitted in the November election but no decision has been reached.

Hints From Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE

DEAR HELOISE: Quite by accident one day, I happened to lay a glass pie dish on my recipe book and immediately happened to notice how it magnified the printing of the recipe. Yes, I wear glasses! But . . . it magnified it more.

Now, instead of covering my recipe book with a piece of plastic to keep it clean—which most housewives never have the time to do anyway—I just lay my glass pie plate over the recipe book itself and not only does it keep the book clean but I can even read the printing without my glasses!

As we usually are mixing these recipes in our bowls anyway and do not use the pie plate until later, I thought I should pass this on.

CLARE.
Gals: It works! I'm glad Somebody else besides me has four eyes.

DEAR HELOISE: Here is something I am sure many of your readers will enjoy doing:

Use a child's paint brush and some food coloring to decorate cake icing. With the basic food colors, you can mix any color and your design can be as elaborate or simple as you wish.

A butter frosting makes a good base and I would suggest lightly sketching your design with a toothpick on the icing before tinting it.

LOYCE RANCOURT.
DEAR HELOISE: I purchased a plastic shoe box at one of our department stores and lined it with waxed paper. I use this to store my sliced cake in the freezer.

After baking the cake—and this is especially good with loaf or pound cake—place the slices in the lined shoe box between sheets of waxed paper. The box will hold and entire cake.

Remove the frozen slices as needed for lunches or take the entire box on a picnic. By the time you get to your destination, the cake slices will be completely thawed.

I find that you can use this method even on layer cakes which contain icing. My cakes never melt and the waxed paper between the slices keep them intact.

VIVIAN ROBERTSON

DEAR HELOISE: I found the enclosed directions for cleaning parchment lamp shades in a farm magazine:

It says, "Use rubbing alcohol applied with a piece of absorbent cotton in a circular gentle motion and this will clean parchment lamp shades." Work slowly and patiently, covering small areas at a time.

MRS. JOHN SCHLOMER

Nicklaus, Player In Palm Springs Playoff Today

Both Golfers Tied At 345

Palmer Finishes In 2-Way-Tie For Fifth

By JIM BACON

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)—Gary Player, the little man in black, came from five strokes behind in the final round of the $50,000 Palm Springs golf classic for a tie—and so today meets Jack Nicklaus in an 18-hole playoff. The money difference is $9,000 to $4,000.

Nicklaus went into a one-stroke lead in the second round, then maintained a five-stroke lead on the third and fourth rounds of the marathon 90-hole tournament.

But he said someone, like the witches in Macbeth, warned him: "Jack may lead the pack but watch out for the man in black."

Player, of South Africa, usually wears black from head to toe. The two have met head-on only once before—late last summer in the "world series of golf." Nicklaus won by five strokes.

Both finished the tournament here with 345 totals. Nicklaus, last to finish, needed an eagle to win on the 482-yard, par-5 18th. His 30-foot putt missed the cup by inches. He settled for a birdie four, same as Player.

Ahead of him at 346 was Tom- my Bolt, whose iron play was as deadly as most pro putting. Bolt's final-round 66 won him third-place money of $3,000.

In fourth place, tied at 347, Gene Littler, who shot a last-day round of 64, and Gardner Dick- inson, who had a final 68.

Littler's 64 was the best individual round of the tournament. The fourth-place money was worth $2,450.

17-Foot Pole Vault In Sight As Nikula Clears 16-8 3/4

By BOB GREEN

Associated Press Sports Writer
A fantastic 17-foot pole vault suddenly has become a possibility and may be achieved in the near future, perhaps this month.

Pentti Nikula, a wiry Finn who soared a startling 16 feet 8 3/4 inches over the weekend, hopes to make the 17-foot flight in the U.S. National AAU championships in New York's Madison Square Garden Feb. 23.

There he will compete against about a half dozen other athletes who have bettered the once seemingly unconquerable 16-foot barrier.

Among them is Dave Tork, Charleston, W. Va., who cleared 16-2 1/4 in Toronto less than two weeks ago, vowed that 17 feet could be done and said he thought he was the man to do it.

Nikula, who holds the listed world record at 16-2 is gunning for 17 feet.

"It came as no surprise to me," the vaulting wizard said after his 16-8 1/4 leap Saturday in an indoor meet at Pajulahki, Finland, an obscure resort village.

"I am in top shape and will shoot for 17 feet next time."

The performance came as a warm-up for Pentti who plans to leave Feb. 20 for several U.S. meets, with the AAU champion ship No. 1.

His vault was 5 inches higher than any other man has ever vaulted, but will not be submitted for a world record since it was accomplished indoors. Indoor performances are not recognized as official records by the International Track and Field Federation. On the same night, Rolando Cruz, a Puerto Rican-born vaulting competitor for Villanova, became the eighth man to go over 16 feet when he cleared 16 feet 1/4 inch in the Philadelphia Inquirer Games.

Like Nikula, Tork and the other 16-foot vaulters, he used a fiber glass pole to flip over the once unheard of height. The 16-foot vault-first accomplished by German-born U.S. Marine John Uelss a year ago-now is becoming almost common place.

The best previous mark was 16-3 1/4 by Yang, in an indoor meet the week before.

West Injured In Lakers NBA Tilt

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Los Angeles Lakers have a comfortable 9 1/2 game lead in the Western Division of the National Basketball Association. But the Lakers aren't breathing as easily as they should.

Jerry West, the Lakers' All-Star guard, pulled a hamstring muscle in his left leg in Sunday's 105-95 loss to the New York Knickerbockers.

"I was driving in for a layup when all of a sudden I felt it give," West explained. "I can't put any weight on it and everything depends on how things go in the next few days." Los Angeles does not play until Wednesday.

The setback snapped the Lakers' eight game winning streak. It was also the first success for New York in eight games. In other games, Boston defeated Detroit 137-128. Cincinnati downed Syracuse 125-115 and Chicago beat San Francisco 110-108.

Gene Conley of the Knickerbockers, who suffered a chip fracture of his right index finger Thursday night, played with his index and middle fingers taped together. He scored 11 points.

In Saturday's games, Los Angeles whopped St. Louis 103-97 and Syracuse beat Cincinnati 117-113.

San Francisco faces Chicago in San Jose, Calif. in tonight's only game.

LITTLE LIZ

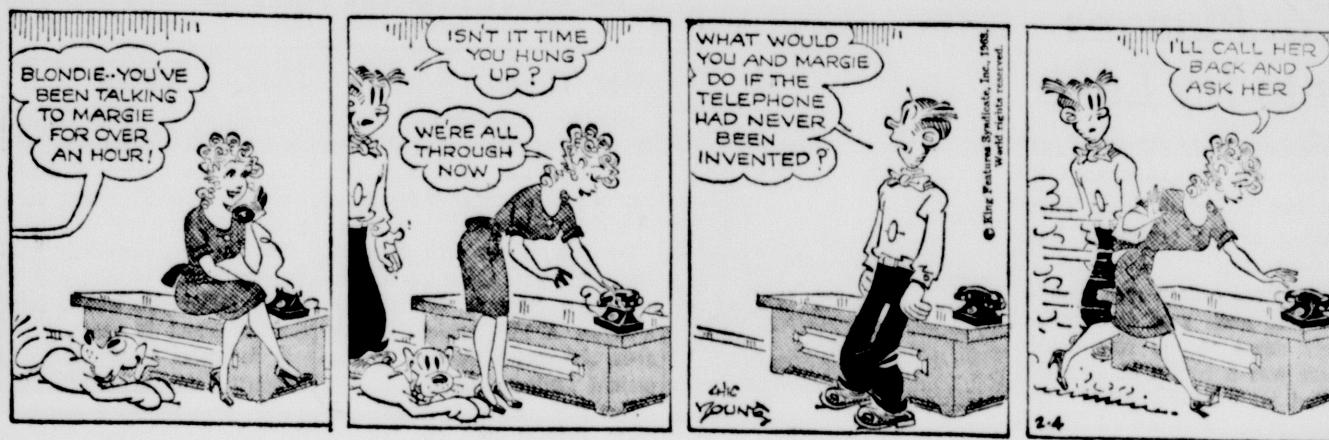

Too many people are inclined to lump all Iron Curtain countries together. Fortunately for the West, Poland definitely is a crack in the Iron Curtain. In fact, it now serves as a very valuable window into the Communist system.

—Rep. Robert P. Griffin, R-Mich., after trip to Poland.

Two Die As Car Plunges Into Icy Lake

BROWNS VALLEY, Minn. (AP) — Their car plunged through the ice and 12 feet of frigid water, settling on the bottom of Lake Traverse.

The three college men climbed into the back seat and pressed their noses to the roof, where there was a pocket of air. They pulled off their coats and Jerry Hahn said, "Well, we all have to go for it."

Hahn, 21, was the only survivor of the ordeal Sunday. He swam 75 feet, pulled himself onto the ice, then ran and crawled a half mile to a lakeshore shack.

Philip Anderson, 19, an excellent swimmer, drowned. So did Paul Vergeldt, 21, whose last words were, "You gotta help me, I can't swim."

A skindiver found the bodies of Anderson and Vergeldt, in the back seat of the car.

From a bed in a Wheaton, Minn., hospital, Hahn told about the tragedy:

The Rosholt, S.D., youths, honor students at South Dakota State College in Brookings, took a short cut across the lake, on the Minnesota-South Dakota border, about 2 a.m. The ice is nearly 30 inches thick in most places.

At a place where ice had buckled and broken, the auto crashed through. The windows, operated electrically, wouldn't open. When the car was almost full of water, the young men got a back door open.

Hahn swam to a hole in the ice. His father said the youth apparently pulled himself up by letting his sweater sleeves freeze to the ice. He began following the shoreline. He stumbled, and his sweater froze to the ice. The only way he could free himself was to crawl out of the sweater. He then had nothing over his light trousers and dress shirt. The temperature was 10 degrees below zero.

Following the shore, he came to the small home of Pete Jensen. He couldn't wake Jensen by shouting and pounding on the door, so Hahn broke a window in the shack.

Jensen gave the youth dry clothing, then drove him to a resort where the proprietor telephoned authorities. Hahn was suffering from shock and exposure. Attendants said his condition was fair.
